Storm in a D Cup

Welcome to our 2008 catalogue! Last year we only included our basic collection: the range of lingerie that's tried and tested for quality, support and a great fit. This time we've included seasonal styles, which means they're in limited supply, and when they're sold out, they're gone! They're only available from the month shown, but you can pre-order them online. Some of your favourite styles, like Harmonies and Arabella are also out in new seasonal colours so don't miss out on the chance to revamp your wardrobe with a favourite bra in a new colour. And remember, we've got fabulous bra-sized swimwear on our website!

Happy Shopping!

Storm in a D Cup

New to Storm in a D Cup? Here are some of our frequently asked questions...

What do I do if the size/style isn't right?

Simply send the items back to us using our Reply Paid address and we will exchange your items or give a refund, whatever you prefer. If you're not sure of what size to try, then call us and we can advise you on sizes and styles.

On the reverse side of your invoice is a returns form that you should also send back.

Do I need to tell you if I am returning an item for exchange?

If you know what size you need, then it's a good idea to tell us by email so we can put it aside for you. As soon as we get the returned item we can post out your exchange. And don't forget, you only ever pay postage once.

When am I charged for my order?

Your credit card is charged only when your order is sent to you, and only for items that are actually sent. If there are items on your order that are out of stock you aren't charged for them until we send them out to you.

Do you have a shop where I look at or try on stock?

Here at Storm in a D Cup headquarters in Bondi we provide an expert fitting service from Monday to Saturday. There are 2 hours set aside for each person so you can try on as much as you like. Remember, all fittings are by appointment only and to book a time, just call 1300 244 272.

The clever use of pink coloured mesh at the top of the cup makes it disappear on your skin so it's the butterflies and flowers that stand out, not the bra.

PORCELAIN STRAPLESS by Panache

A seamfree strapless bra is pretty hard to beat for being both practical and useful, but this one also has a low front, making it a rare find. Created by the company that made the first K Cup underwire bra, this one is sure to hold you up, no matter what size you are.

 Because there is no DD or FF cup fitting, choose a size larger than usual. If you are a FF you will need to choose a H cup.

ENELL SPORTS BRA

by Enell

The ENELL is not like any other bra you've seen: it does up at the front, and works on the "squashed flat" theory of breast support. It's so unique, it has its own separate fitting guide plus it's Oprah Winfrey's favourite sports bra!

Believe it or not, in just 10 sizes these bras fit from size 10D to 30DD, and if you are a size 30 and looking for a sports bra, you know that they aren't easy to find!

Experts say you should start wearing a maternity bra from about 4 months into pregnancy but you can wear one as soon as you grow out of your current ones. You should be able to do your bra up on the tightest hook, as your ribs expand as your baby grows. See the rest of the maternity range online.

The ENELL fitting guide

CURRENT BRA SIZE	ENELL SIZE	Your Enell should feel tight, yet comfortable. When you have the hook & eye in hand and before you start to pull to fasten, your hands should be under your breasts. Start to hook the bra from the bottom and go up, this gets easier with time. Once you get your ENELL fastened, you need to reach in and adjust your breasts in the bra by pulling them up and out towards the underarm so the bra lays flat under the breasts. They should be then held firmly in the upper/fuller portion of the bra. Your nipples should roughly sit just below the arch seam. To check the fit, twist your body as if you were doing waist exercises. If the bra moves with you more than slightly and doesn't stay in place it may be too big. For a low impact fit, the bra will feel looser and can move more than slightly.
